

Best Beauty

Julia Roberts, mother of three, was an early fan of Erbaviva's ecofriendly mommy-to-be skin-care products

No More Stretch Marks?

Traveling mummies-to-be can now take the full menu of Erbaviva products—Stretch Mark Oil, Stretch Mark Cream, Quease-ease Lip Balm, and Milk Bath—along in a mini set ($29.50). If the pure organic ingredients (almond oil, shea butter, and mandarin-peel oil) don't prevent hateful lines, at least you'll smell yummy.

A high, tight ponytail from the Rodarte spring runway

SPRING SWING

"I wanted a very smooth surface on the hair to create this sleek, straight ponytail," says hairstylist Odile Gilbert. She used Aveda Style-Prep Smoother ($24) to help tame models' hair during a backstage heat wave. The pink extension? It matched the dress.

CHARMED!

Time for a touch-up? One of the weighty gold lockets on this Yves Saint Laurent Handbag Accessory ($56) holds the perfect shade of fuchsia lip gloss. The other houses the spicy floral Elle solid fragrance. Dab some on.

The PEOPLE, places, and products everyone is BUZZING about

Clip the YSL mini charms and chain onto your YSL Tribute bag

Kim Vo client
Kate Hudson

Vo's sleek new Las Vegas salon

L.V. Hair Play

No one expected Kim Vo to land in Las Vegas quietly. The Extreme Makeover colorist designed his new salon at the Mirage to encourage maximum extreme experimentation: Clients try on new hairstyles via wigs and hair extensions in assorted colors and lengths.

See Where to Buy for details

By Annemarie Iverson

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: JON KOPPELLOFF/FILMMAGIC.COM; DAN & CORINA LECCA; SABIN ORR; AP IMAGES/DAN STEINBERG; STILL LIFE: JEFF WESTBROOK/STUDIO D; CHARMS: LARA ROBBY/STUDIO D